

YOUNG MEN OF VALOR

Dear Potential Intern:

Young Men of Valor is a mentoring program of Henry Tellis Foundation founded for fatherless, young men between the ages of 10 to 18. The program focuses on developing character and leadership among the program participants.

The Henry Tellis Foundation and the Young Men of Valor Mentoring Program strive to transform young men into leaders of today and tomorrow. Among many other outreach efforts, Henry Tellis Foundation also hosts Camp PRIDE, which is an annual football and volleyball camp for young men and women. Camp PRIDE (Personal Responsibility In Delivering Excellence) has allowed over 400 kids to participate in a day of character and team building exercises with collegiate and professional athletes and coaches.

It is our desire to allow socially conscious college students the opportunity to become empowered through serving and obtaining experience in community activism, program administration, and education. We currently offer internships in the areas of mentoring, tutoring, and administration.

Attached are the internship application and internship descriptions. Thank you for your interest and cooperation in completing the attached application.

Sincerely,

Henry D. Tellis, Executive Director
